

WHEAT PRICES AT TOP NOTCH

Chicago Market Shows an Advance of From Five and a Quarter to Seven Cents.

BOTH BULLS AND BEARS HAVE CASH

And Both Sides Are Fighting Hard--Men Who Are Conducting the Proposed Raids, Backed by Heavy Capital.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 17.—That the wheat market is not a one-sided affair 5½c higher than the previous week, was shown by the advance of 5½c to 7c last week, and a close 3½c. All the loss of the previous week was regained, the range being nearly the same. There are large interests on both sides of the market, but for the present they are not working against each other. The bear interest is the most influential that ever took that side. On the bull side there are speculators with millions of money made in the last advance and in stocks who are holding the December, also a big line of May. For the present the play is in December. It advanced from ½c under to 1½c over May and closed with a premium of 1½c. With December at a premium and with contract grades of wheat in all markets at December price or higher, and with the exception at Duluth, selling at the highest prices on the crop, although May is 3½c under the high mark, there is a remarkably strong situation that will bear close watching.

Light Stocks of Contract.
Another factor that appeals to the bull is that there are light stocks of contract wheat in all markets. Chicago has 1,500,000 bu., mostly No. 2 hard, deliverable at a 2c penalty. None of the other big markets have any more and few have as much. There is a marked scarcity of good milling wheat everywhere, and no prospect of getting big stocks in any of the speculative markets this season. It is a situation susceptible of high prices and making the markets easy of manipulation, and to the bear as dangerous even though the price is high, 32c over last year. With the former the price cuts no figure, while with the latter the dangers of short selling are such that none but the strongest can operate heavily. It is a market that presents the greatest chance for gigantic scalping operations by strong interests that have been known in the history of wheat speculation.

Wheat on an Importing Basis.
There is one new thing that the wheat trader is confronted with. This may assume proportions that might make it dangerous for the bull and at the same time very interesting for the speculative and milling interests, both in the United States and the United Kingdom. The latter is the largest buyer of Manitoba spring wheat. With the United States on an import basis for Manitoba wheat, with a duty of 25c a bushel, there is 10,000,000 to 20,000,000 bushels that might be brought in to help out in case of emergency. At the same time the question is, Will the Englishman allow Manitoba wheat to get away. So far this season they have not been urgent buyers. Their attitude in the future is dependent upon the outcome of the Australian and Argentine crops. The former has been benefited in the past ten days by rain, but supplies there are not expected to equal the past year's big run.

Argentine Acreage Larger.
In Argentina there is an increase of 20 per cent over the acreage of last year. Harvest is two months away. There will be crop scares there, as there always is, and some parts of that country are now having frosts, but the news is indefinite as to what effect it will have on wheat. The weather conditions will be the factor in making their crop. A wet harvest is more disastrous there than in any other country, owing to the crude method of handling. A material curtailment in the yield will change the complexion of the European consuming markets, and may rouse them to buying wherever they can get supplies. What the prices will be then no one can tell.

World's Supplies Exceed Last Year's.
There is no actual scarcity of wheat the world over. Supplies Oct. 1 in Europe, Argentina, Africa and America were 156,869,000 bushels, or 16,000,000 bushels more than last year. The increase in September was 31,892,000 bushels, or about 6,000,000 bushels less than the accumulation in the same time last year. This is remarkable when it is considered that prices were 30c higher than a year ago. The pressure of actual wheat on the market is growing less as the marketing is decreasing. In the southwest over 50 per cent of the winter wheat has been marketed. In the northwest the marketing is a full average, and the movement at terminal points is expected to continue large for some time, as country elevators are full.

EIGHT DEAD, SEVEN HURT IN BIG TENEMENT FIRE

Flames in Five-Story Building Result in Loss of Life Before Firemen Have Chance to Rescue.

New York, Oct. 17.—Eight persons lost their lives and seven were fatally injured as the result of a fire in a five-story tenement at 15 and 17 Moore street, Brooklyn, Monday morning. Among the victims were three children, a woman aged 50, and a girl 14. All were Jews.

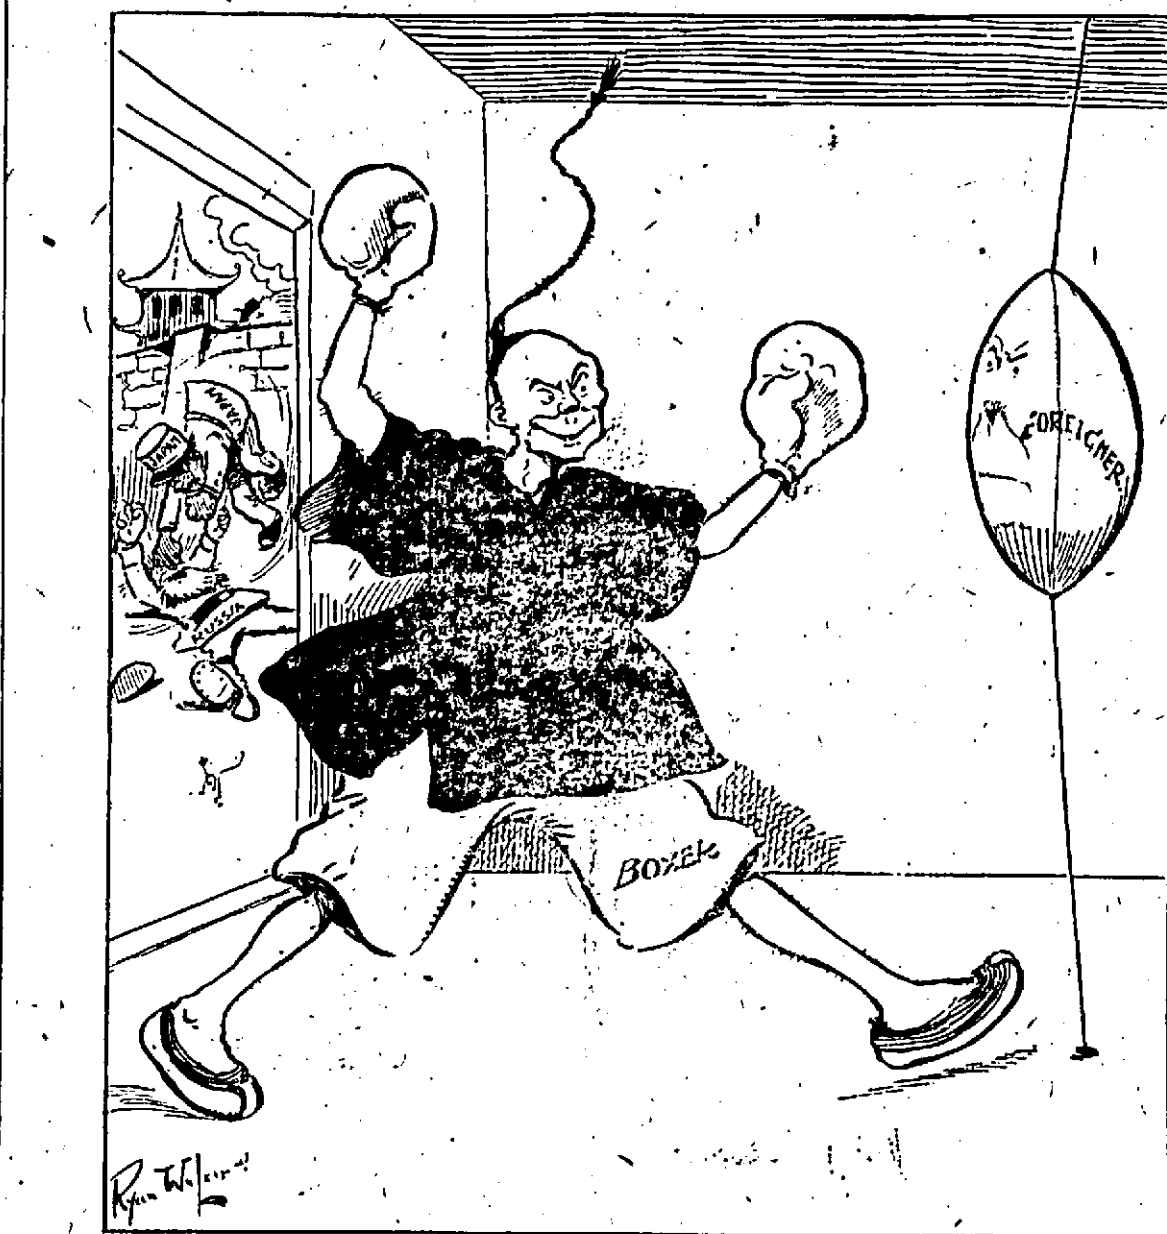

Three alarms were turned in by the fire department and three ambulance calls followed. The police aided in the work of rescue.

The house was filled with Jewish families. On the top floor lived Rubino Billoski, his wife and three children. Across the hall were apartments occupied by Isaac Bushilde. When the firemen arrived they found the upper floor's were in flames. Three children of the Billoski family lay dead on the floor, burned beyond recognition. The eldest was 5 years and the youngest 11 months.

In the hallway the firemen stumbled over the charred body of a woman, evidently Mrs. Billoski, and that of a girl of 14 years. Both had been cut off from escape by the rapid spread of the flames. The Bushilde family, seven in all, were unconscious in their beds. All were sent to the hospital, where surgeons said there was slim chance of their recovery.

SOLD CATTLE AND VANISHED

Nebraska Stockman Is Being Searched by Chicago Policemen Today.

RELATIVES FEAR HE IS KILLED

Believe That Highwaymen Have Done Away With Him for His Money--Much Mystery Surrounds the Case at Present.

[Special by Scripps-McLae.]
Chicago, Oct. 17.—Paul Kennicott, 20 years old, a ranchman from Wood Lake, Neb., has been missing in Chicago since Oct. 10 under peculiar circumstances and relatives have reported the case to the police of the stock yards station and requested that a search be made for the young man. Kennicott is believed to have had a large sum of money when he disappeared, the proceeds of the sale of several carloads of cattle at the stock yards, and the theory advanced by relatives and friends is that he was the victim of highwaymen, who in their eagerness to get the money may have committed murder.

Kennicott formerly lived in Chicago and his grandmother, Mrs. Caroline Kennicott, now lives at 90 Thirty-third street. Mark Kennicott, a brother of the missing man, lives at the same address and he reported the case to the police.

Gives Notice of His Coming.
Some time ago John Bloomfield, an uncle of Paul Kennicott, living at Park Ridge, Ill., received a letter from the young man, in which he said he was about to leave the ranch near Wood Lake with several carloads of cattle. Mr. Bloomfield was informed in the letter that his nephew expected to be in Chicago on Oct. 10 and that he would visit him after he had disposed of the stock at the yards.

Since that time nothing has been heard of young Kennicott, although it is said inquiry at the yards revealed the fact he arrived in Chicago on the date mentioned and sold the cattle, for which he received a large sum of money. Kennicott, however, has failed to visit or communicate with any of his relatives and no trace of his movements since his arrival in the city can be found.

POLITICS ENTER INTO AN ATHLETIC ELECTION NOW

Plan To Rid The University of Present Graduate Coach May Take Definite Shape.

[Special to The Gazette.]
Madison, Wis., Oct. 17.—George F. Downer of Madison is a passive candidate for the position of graduate manager of athletics at the University of Wisconsin. Head Coach Arthur H. Curtis will discontinue the game of football for good and all with the close of the present season. Edward B. Cochems, assistant football coach, is the leading candidate for the position of head coach. These three facts are the elements of an interesting situation in what at Madison is called "university athletic politics."

The candidacy of Mr. Downer takes the form of careful working by himself and friends among the students here and the alumni everywhere. At present he is general secretary of the alumni association and editor of the alumni magazine, and since his graduation from the university seven years ago has continually been in touch with the institution. He is highly popular with the faculty and favorably known to the students. Perhaps the greatest promise of his success is in the well-known dissatisfaction with Graduate Manager Kilpatrick, who though a man of great energy and attractive personal qualities has had the misfortune of seeing the Wisconsin athletic association sink from financial fitness to poverty. Students disclaim any intention of "knocking" when they demand a change.

Head Coach Curtis says he believes with President Roosevelt, that it is a good thing to be a strong athlete, but that athletics is a very meagre thing to have as the circumference of one's ambition. Mr. Curtis will enter the medical and surgical profession, and to that end took the pre-medical course here and has since spent his time, apart from the football season, at the Rush Medical college in Chicago. Coaches Curtis and Cochems are fraternity brethren and always have been close friends in college. Assistant Coach Cochems "lives on football" and has planned his life's work as that of instruction in athletics and physical culture. He knows the fact that vast sums of money are annually taken in and spent at the large universities in connection with the athletic departments; more than in any of the departments under any one of the leading professors. He concludes that the day of the "professor of athletics," if not already here, is at hand. Such a professor he chooses to be, to hold a position similar to that of Coach Curtis of Chicago, in which all the athletics of the university are under the charge of one person, that person to have the same rank and certainly as large a salary as a professor of Greek or science. Naturally he prefers Wisconsin, and it is understood that there is an agreement here between him and Coach Curtis that when Mr. Curtis leaves, the mantle will fall upon the shoulders of Mr. Cochems. This statement, of course, is not authorized by the coaches and in that sense is premature. Whether or not Mr. Cochems will become head football coach upon the retirement of Coach Curtis depends almost absolutely upon the record of the present season. The recent trouble among the coaches, in which several leading players struck, was commonly announced as "the deathblow to the graduate coach system at Wisconsin," but should the present favorable conditions continue and Wisconsin finish the season among the leaders, Mr. Cochems will doubtless attain his desire.

A petition has been signed by a sufficient number of students so that a special athletic association meeting will be held Wednesday night for the election of new directors of the athletic board.

HARVEST HOME AT TRINITY CHURCH

FALL FESTIVAL WAS OBSERVED THERE YESTERDAY MORNING.

GOOD SERMON BY REV. RICHEY

Reasons for Thanksgiving—Amount Due the Lord and Amount Given, Compared.

At the Trinity church yesterday morning was celebrated the Harvest Home festival. The Garretts Communion service in E was the service and the anthem was "O Lord How Manifold Art Thy Works" by Barnby. Rev. Richey in his sermon said, choosing his text from Ephesians 5:20:

"Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. It is a coincidence. But we may scarcely call it a coincidence—that the collect-epistle and gospel for the day—and week—strike the keynote of the festival which we are keeping today. But which might have been appointed for any other Sunday in the fall season. The coincidence is not a strange one, because the keynote of the day is thanksgiving, and scarcely a Sunday passes, when we may not find in either the collect, epistle, gospel, psalter or lessons expressions of gratitude or exhortations to thanksgiving.

"The attribute of God, set forth in the collect, is His bountiful goodness: 'O Almighty and Most Merciful God of Thy Bountiful Goodness' and then follows the petition. And it is God's bountiful goodness which we celebrate and give thanks for on Harvest Home. Likewise in the epistle, amid much other counsel, the apostle exhorts us thus—'Speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord; giving thanks always for all things.' And all the good things for which we give thanks are a result of the bountiful goodness of the Lord, expressed in the collect. But the gospel turns goes further and reveals the nature of God's bountiful goodness in the parable of the marriage of the king's son. Here we see that God's bountiful goodness pertains to things both temporal and spiritual. There is the great feast, with the oxen and fatlings made ready and the dinner prepared. And then, because of the apparent spiritual significance of this parable, we recognize the great spiritual harvest of the world. The invited guests—the Jews—make light of the invitation and refuse to come, and the King sends forth His servants into the highways and hedges, among all nations, to compel the heathen to come in, that the wedding may be furnished with guests. And this day the prophecy contained in this parable is fulfilled, as every nation and tribe of the earth, the servants of God are gathering together as many as they can find for the great spiritual harvest of the world. Thus having noticed the bearing of the collect, epistle and gospel for the day upon the festival which we are observing let us turn to a more general consideration of seed-time and harvest and thanksgiving to God.

"There is nothing new in the festival of Harvest Home. While no special day is appointed for its observance generally throughout the whole church, yet the custom of observing it is almost universal and in different dioceses the bishops appoint a day, which they deem convenient and appropriate for their clergy and people, or in the absence of such action by the bishop, the individual priest may do the same. Harvest Home is the Christian perpetuation of the feast of tabernacles, in the church of the Old Testament—a day of thanksgiving for the returns of the fruits of the earth. And as we couple together the church of the old dispensation with that of the new, we may say that in conformity with the direction of the text. The church of God has given thanks always for all things, especially for the returns of the earth in a fall festival.

"And most appropriately does she do so; for with his greatest ingenuity, and most studied skill, man cannot build a factory nor devise machinery which is capable of producing fruits, grains and vegetables. Each of these contains in its inner and most secret being, the mystery of its own peculiar life. It is the work of God, and man cannot bring it into being. Therefore it is especially fitting that he should turn to God with thanksgiving for that for which he is wholly dependent, on God's bountiful goodness. This is simple gratitude. Man holds out his hand, and God blesses the work of his hands. He could not do it himself. Therefore he must thank the God who blesses him. Without power to help himself, unaided, he opens wide his mouth and God fills it. Therefore he turns with thanks to his God for his very being and preservation. This is simple gratitude. To do less than this is the basest ingratitude of the most helpless of creatures towards the most gracious of benefactors. This gratitude is simply the fruit of an inner sense and consciousness of the goodness of the Lord in the land of the living. The grateful heart beholds daily, causes for its unbounded thankfulness. It beholds the sun overflow; it rejoices in the abundant harvest of corn, wine and oil. It daily delights in the very life it lives. It gives thanks that it is so wonderfully preserved and filled continually with such good things. It rejoices in the silver lining which it sees to every cloud, and which, even in its darkest hours, lightens its darkness with the hope of glory. These things entering daily, the experience of God's people, ought certainly to inspire them with constant thankfulness and rejoicing in the Lord.

"Harvest Home should incline us towards this appreciation, to an extraordinary degree. Coming right after the ingathering of the harvest, it should cause our hearts in a special way to overflow with thankfulness, as do the fairs in their abundance. It should cause us to lift up our heads with joy, to glorify the Giver of all good things, as the ears of corn—first the blade, then the ear, after that the full corn in the ear—lift up their heads as the time of harvest draws near. It should cause us, too, to rejoice and be glad because of the ingathering of the grapes, whose juice is divinely appointed in the sacrament of God's precious blood and mercy—which maketh glad the heart of man. In the conscious offering of an acceptable sacrifice and by the pledge of better life beyond, by the pledge of better life beyond.

"But our minds must turn back upon the thought that the harvest is conditional upon seed-time. Man cannot make the earth bring forth, and yet he is divinely appointed part in the great sacrament of natural life. We must till the ground in the sweat of his brow. He cannot transform the tender plant into the ripe fruit; yet he must water what he can, and for the rest beseech the former and latter rains from Him 'Who watereth the earth from above.' But as St. Paul says, 'Neither is he that planteth anything, nor he that watereth, but God that giveth the increase.'

"And as this is true in the order of natural things, so as the apostle directly states, is it true in realm of spiritual things also. And yet while spiritual things depend on God, yet God Himself is pleased to depend on men as workers together with Him, and to require that they shall both plant and water. This is our own present work. This is for us, the seed-time, in the great vineyard of our Father. Seed-time is a time of labor. The ground must be made fallow. The seed must be sown, and when the young plants shoot forth there must be a generous use of the cultivator. It is not only a time of labor but of anxiety, lest the labor should prove to be in vain. It is a time of patience. So often the sun pours down his red hot rays when it seems as if the ground was already parched beyond endurance, and again the rains become so incessant that dire ills are feared.

"But it turns out that where man thought the crop was entirely ruined, it has yielded some thirty and some forty per cent, and where man thought it would be at least but a half crop, a full crop has been gathered in. And so we trust it may be in the great spiritual field, the seed, which is the word of God, bringing forth in us finally some thirty, some sixty and some a hundredfold. Consequently this seed-time is not only one of labor, anxiety and patience, but also of hope. 'If that now goeth on his way weeping and bearing forth good seed, shall doubtless come, again with joy and bring his sheaves with him.'

"But we must not forget that before the joy goes the weeping, and before the sheaves the seed. This is seed-time; we must be sowing. It is a divine command which says, 'Cast thy bread upon the waters, for thou shalt find it after many days,' and 'freely ye have received—freely give.' We must seek to make our lives rich in good works, and in all those Christian occupations, which cast a divine luster of divine light about a firm stand for the religious observance of the Lord's day. We must love and honor, more and more, the Lord's own service in which we are uniting today and every Sunday early. We must encourage Christian friendship among the members of our parish and also do good to all men. We must scatter abroad deeds of kindness and words of love, even though they be small and cost us really but little, for this is a kind of scattering that is really a gathering. For its object and effect is to gather others into closer union with God.

"We have tried betimes and have seemed perchance to succeed, but poorly. Therefore we must try again. We must put forth fresh efforts. The ground of our hearts which seems so parched, will still be blessed, if we put forth patient and hopeful efforts. We should not forget the value of each seed that is sown in faith, hope and love. The other day I picked up an ear of corn which was only a little above the average in size and to satisfy my curiosity I counted the kernels upon it. There were sixteen rows and 60 kernels in a row, making 960 altogether, which probably was only a half of the fruit from the one seed that sprouted. How true it shall be in the great day of the harvest of souls that our sorrow shall be turned into gladness and great rejoicing if we be found to possess the wedding garment, and are permitted to use such a abundant harvest as this from each little seed that we have sown in our Saviour's name. I remember reading of a gentleman who once tried the experiment of raising a harvest from a single seed. He put a kernel of corn in the ground and it sprang up and yielded two ears. The next year he planted the corn of those two ears and had nearly a bushel of shelled corn. This he planted again and a great field of high corn at length rewarded his labors. In like manner the religious duties and good works of Christian people have a way of multiplying themselves. There are many such harvests in the world today, if our eyes could only be opened wide enough to see them. And as we contemplate the 300 million or more Christians in the world today, and the present onrush in the evangelization of the world, we begin to recognize the immensity of the harvest of that One promised seed of the woman, who died and was born in the side of a hill, in the sepulchre of Joseph, and rose again, bringing forth this mighty harvest, which is to joy of angels and the marvel of men, and the hope of God's people."

EVEN UNTO THE SMALL CHILDREN

Miss Loretta Jefferson Appears in Her Father's Company as His Support.

Miss Loretta Jefferson, who appeared here on Saturday night, is a daughter of Thomas Jefferson. She is a grandchild of Joseph Jefferson and is not yet out of her teens. When Miss Jefferson begins her professional appearance she will represent the sixth generation of Jeffersons, who have been in their time actors before the public.

It was thought that Miss Jefferson would not take up a theatrical career. She had appeared in a few amateur performances at her home, in Montclair, N. J., but her father never encouraged her juvenile ambition. When he returned last autumn from his annual tour in "Rip Van Winkle" and saw his daughter in a little amateur playlet, her work pleased him so much that he gave his consent to her professional appearance, promising her that she should be a member of his company this season.

Delighted at the prospect of continuing the family tradition Miss Jefferson forthwith took up rehearsals of the part of Menie, with her father's and her grandfather's tuition as a stepping stone, she hopes to histrionic honors.

Miss Loretta Jefferson is a striking likeness to her grandfather, Mr. Joseph Jefferson, and also inherits a goodly share of both her father and grandfather's talents. Not only is she gifted with great dramatic ability, but like both her father and grandfather she is an artist with the brush. Her grandfather, Mr. Joseph Jefferson (the dean of the theatrical profession) is delighted at the idea of his granddaughter following in his footsteps, and an interesting phrase of Miss Loretta entering the profession is that she is the first of the Jefferson family of her sex to go upon the stage, and with the opportunity she will have, we ought to have another Mary Anderson.

COLISEUM OPENS WITH MUCH ECLAT

Winter's Sport Promises Well—Large Crowd at the Opening Saturday Night.

A large and merry throng witnessed the opening of the Coliseum on South River street Saturday night. The Coliseum is the former Rink building with new decorations, new management and new name. From the time the Imperial band struck up its first lively air till the bell announced closing time the floor was a swiftly moving panorama of Janesville's representative young people. The capacity of this large building was taxed and but for the restriction of the management as to the number of skaters on the floor it would have been over crowded. The rules under which this new enterprise is conducted is sure to be productive of good results and prove popular among the persons enjoying a clean, healthful pastime.

FOOTBALL GAMES PLAYED ALL OVER

FRANK HOLT'S TEAM ROLLED UP BIG SCORE.

A 0 TO 0 GAME YESTERDAY

High School Defeated at Beaver Dam by Wayland Academy—Other Interesting Scores.

The Sun Prairie high school team, which Frank Holt of this city is coaching, administered a crushing defeat to the Watertown high school by a score of 61 to 0. Mr. Holt graduated from the Milwaukee Normal last June and is instructor in the Sun Prairie high school and director of all athletics. In the high school here Holt was a basketball player of some note and made the team in that game while attending the normal. He was a member of his class football team two years and also was in the baseball teams of the school when Janesville was represented in that sport by a high school team.

High School Beaten. In the game Saturday afternoon at Beaver Dam the local high school team was out-classed at every point of the game and lost to Wayland Academy by a score of 34 to 0. The Wayland team's average weight was 160 pounds while that of the locals is 135. In team work no other eleven that the high school has played in the last three years has excelled the Wayland. Repeatedly the academy runners were tackled back of their own line but to stop the man carrying the ball was to stop the whole team, so perfect were their formations. Keegan, fullback for the victors, was the backbone of the team and in straight and diagonal blocks he was always good for his distance. The halfbacks also made good in around the ends and few times were they caught napping.

Good Work of Ends. The only thing in which the high school players excelled the Wayland team was in the work of the two ends in getting down on punts when the locals were forced to kick. Ryan and Feeley never once let the Wayland men who received the ball on a punt advance it any considerable distance and he was usually downed before he started. The field in which the game was contested was miserable and probably helped defeat the Janesville team but none the less the score would have favored Wayland. The players were gentlemanly fellows and no rough playing was done on either side. The treatment at the hands of the Beaver Dam boys was the best that could be received. In the second half Duval Wright was put in as quarterback and though he has not been practicing this position lately he held down his place like a veteran.

Other Games. At Beloit Saturday the Beloit Academy team was again defeated; this time by the eleven from St. John's Military Academy by a score of 12 to 0. The Wisconsin freshmen won from Carroll college at Madison by a score of 11 to 0. Beloit high school was the victor in a game with Evansville high at the former place by a score of 15 to 5. At Watertown Fort Atkinson high defeated North Western college of Watertown by a score of 10 to 5.

Madison's Opinion. The crossing of the goal line of Michigan, the indifferent showing of Yost's Wolverines in the game against Ohio state university Saturday and the wonderful and suddenly developed fighting spirit of the Badger eleven have imbued Coaches Cusatis and Cochems with some confidence of winning when the Michigan team comes to Madison a week from Saturday. Neither of the Wisconsin coaches saw any of the other "big nine" teams play Saturday and they say they are of the opinion that it pays to stay with the home team, rather than pilgrimage to the fields of the opponents of future games. Coach Williams of Minnesota saw the Badgers play Notre Dame Saturday. The football enthusiasm at Madison is so high that a crowd of students welcomed the returning team at the depot Sunday morning at 2 o'clock. Each day this week there will be hundreds of cheering students at the practice scrimmages to urge the players. This is a gratifying answer to the appeal of Coach Curtis for more hearty student support.

The numerous changes in the Wisconsin eleven have made each candidate for the team play as hard in the daily practice as though in fear that some aggressive second eleven man will beat him out for his position, and this, too, is gratifying to the coaches. In fact, there are several of the regulars who must work hard to hold their places, so fierce is the competition. The game next Saturday is considered to develop merely a vigorous practice, although Drake rolled up a large score, 62 points, against Coe college last Saturday.

SURPRISE PARTY AT THE M'GINLEY HOME

Was Enjoyed by an Assemblage of Forty Saturday Night—A. O. U. W. Have Social Evening.

Forty friends of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. McGinley surprised them at their home on Williams street Saturday night. The evening was devoted to card playing and dancing, tempting refreshments being served during the progress of the festivities. Friday evening members of the A. O. U. W. enjoyed a card party at their hall in East Side Old Fellows' block. Carl Pabst carried off the first prize, being awarded a beautiful shaving set, and the consolation prize went to George E. Tanberg. Refreshments were served and a delightful time enjoyed.

"RIP VAN WINKLE" A DISAPPOINTMENT

Thomas Jefferson, Plays with Inadequate Support Before Fair-Sized Audience.

Those who attended the performance at the Myer theatre Saturday evening with the expectation of finding in the younger Jefferson's production any considerable semblance to the rare charm and beauty of his illustrious father's "Rip Van Winkle" were grievously disappointed. Where the great Jefferson played at will on the sympathies and sentiment of his audiences, moving swiftly from tears to laughter and back to tears again, his proclaimed successor only succeeded in amusing. This was partly due to the utter inadequacy of the support and stage paraphernalia. There was nothing ghostly, mysterious or fantastic about the scene with Hendrik Hudson's crew in the Catskill mountains. A half a dozen or more individuals garbed in nondescript canvas suits and wearing wigs and false whiskers that fitted badly, went through a more or less meaningless ceremonial in a manner that reminded one of the average lodge initiation. Frances Meek failed to realize the part of the shrewish "Gretchen" and when she ordered "Rip" out into the storm there seemed to be no particular reason for his going. Frederick Malcolm played the part of the grasping, heartless "Derriek Van Beekman" very well and the little children, Estelle Bryan as "Meenie" and Vivian Bryan as "Hendrick" were good. "Rip Van Winkle" is not a great drama. It is a rather simple, poetic little story that can count for little or nothing on the stage unless translated by artists capable of creating again that romantic atmosphere with which Washington Irving surrounded his charming tale. Otherwise it possesses nothing to sustain interest and is like a ghost story told in broad daylight.

FORTY FRIENDS VISITED HOME OF GUY NEWMAN

In the Country and Celebrated His Birthday Anniversary—Games and Dancing.

Guy Newman was pleasantly surprised at his home in the country, by about forty friends Saturday evening, the occasion being his birthday anniversary. The early part of the evening was devoted to games, after which refreshments were served and the floors cleared for dancing. Music was furnished by the Schard and Tracey band. Before departing the guests presented Mr. Newman with a handsome chair and several other appropriate gifts.

LEE SHERWOOD THROWN OFF HIS BICYCLE IN BELOIT

Nose Was Broken and Face and Lips Badly Cut On Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sherwood were called to Beloit Saturday evening to attend their son, Lee, who was thrown from his bicycle and sustained a broken nose and several severe cuts about his face while riding home from work. Dr. Helms was called to dress his injuries. The young man is reported to be getting along nicely.

Executive officers of the railroads have again settled the sugar rate war. They brought sufficient pressure to bear to induce the steamship lines from New York to Savannah, which are responsible for the latest cutting, to agree to maintain normal rates on and after Nov. 1. After getting satisfactory assurances from the steamship lines that they would advance rates, the railroad officials agreed to restore sugar rates to their normal basis on Nov. 1.

It is reported that when the Vandalla line is taken out of the hands of the receiver the latter part of this month the Rock Island system will buy the Peoria division, the Pennsylvania buying the main line. When the Vandalla was declared bankrupt the Pennsylvania management explained it by saying that they did not want to carry the load with the Peoria division any longer.

B. L. Winchell, president of the Rock Island system, said yesterday: "The general business situation is improving. Signs of growing activity are to be seen on every hand, and it looks as if business interests everywhere are discounting the election. The immense corn crop has brought confidence to the people, and railroad business should be large during the winter."

John De Witt has been appointed general baggage agent of the Burlington system, and hereafter the baggage department will have charge of the baggage, mail, express, and milk business of the company.

Traffic on the Texas lines and vicinity is practically tied up by the washouts in that section. The mail is piling up at the central points and none of the smaller cities off direct lines which have been repaired, are reached. A bunch of custom inspectors, federal court jurors and others who were waterbound at Las Cruces lately, secured permission from the superintendent of the road and made their way in a box car attached to a work train into El Paso. The party numbered about twenty-five and beer kegs were used as seats.

About one year ago the Northwestern road discontinued the position of traveling engineer for Wisconsin, believing it to be an unimportant position. Last week Mr. Williams was appointed to the position, the trial without one being impractical. The traveling engineer is necessarily an experienced man, who understands every part of the engine well. He is sort of an expert machinist who travels from place to place where he is needed, to repair engines.

Work of putting in a platform around the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul depot at East Madison, was begun Thursday morning. The platform will be of brick with a cement curbing.

Edward Lancy, of Baraboo, for over forty years an employ of the Northwestern road, and since 1873 an engineer for the same company, was buried Thursday afternoon at Baraboo. For some years Mr. Lancy had charge of the Baraboo and Madison division but of late he has been on the route from Baraboo to Winona.

There are many men who wear their hats practically all the time when awake, and are blessed with a heavy shock of hair; yet if the scalp of these same men once became infested with dandruff germs, the parasites would multiply all the quicker for lack of air. ## STATE INSTITUTIONS.

The complaint recently filed by the scholars at the state school for blind suggests that the work of public servants elected by the people and paid by tax payers is so thoroughly prostituted as to be a disgrace to the state.

The governor knows absolutely nothing about state institutions. Many of them he has never visited and the president of his board of control is so busily engaged in a scramble to defeat a republican congressman that he has but little time to devote to the work.

The state hospital at Mendota has an unsavory reputation and when the lid is removed the people of the state will have occasion to denounce the administration with renewed vigor.

The past four years have been devoted to politics, and but little else. From the governor to his army of game wardens politics has been the absorbing theme, and every department of service has suffered in consequence.

Employees at the state house, as well as around the state, have devoted time which belonged to the public, to advancing the interests of the governor, and the administration to-day is honeycombed, as never before, with corruption and negligence.

Under these conditions it is perfectly natural that the state institutions should suffer. There is no branch of state government of which the general public is so densely ignorant as the penal and charitable institutions which are supported so liberally.

Even in towns where they are located but little interest is taken, and comparatively nothing known as to the way they are conducted.

The occasional visitor never goes behind the scenes. He has a parlor introduction and goes away impressed with the notion that the state is magnanimous in the care of her dependent classes. Nothing but a scandal excites public interest and this is soon forgotten.

The state board of control has entire charge of these institutions, but this board is constantly changing and the men appointed are selected, not with reference to qualifications, but purely on political grounds.

less of quality or any thing else but price.

Too narrow to bottle a policy and too ignorant to be of any assistance to superintendents, the state's dependents, as a definite member of the board stated while in office, are like so many cattle to be housed and fed. This low level, to which the service has descended, accounts for the spirit of commercialism and false economy, which prevails.

The officers of the institutions are constantly advised that rigid economy must be enforced and that a record of saving money is the one and only record demanded. This policy is a part of the political program, and it is unequal for and unjust.

The legislature passes upon itemized budgets for all of the state institutions. These budgets are carefully prepared and cover every item of expense. They provide for a liberal and wholesome diet, and neither the legislature nor the people expect to save money on the appropriations.

It is no credit to the board to save $5,000 on an appropriation of this kind, but it is a disgrace where the saving results from niggardly economy.

The complaint at the state school may be overdrawn, but the chances are that it is not. Superintendent Showalter is a kind-hearted man and his disposition would be to supply his tables with plenty of fruit in season, and a liberal diet throughout the year, but he is handicapped by a parsimonious board, whose one and only mission is to save money.

The state institutions, as well as every other department, will be benefited by a change of administration. The state is entitled to a governor who is willing to devote his time and energies to conscientious service. A man who recognizes that he is a public servant and not a dictator. With such a governor some attention will be given to state institutions and the blind of the state will have no cause for complaint.

LOYAL TO WHITEHEAD.

Senator Whitehead is making a tour of the county and during the past week has addressed large and attentive audiences at Clinton, Orfordville and Newark. These are sections of the county where the governor has some following, but loyalty to the party is of first consideration and the cordiality with which Senator Whitehead is received indicates that he will be generously supported in November.

The governor may discover that he has undertaken a large contract in attempting to "clean up" the senator from Rock county. The people have a disagreeable habit of doing their own thinking, and they have long entertained a good opinion of the man who represents them in the state senate.

It occurs to many of them that Senator Whitehead is as large a man as the governor and fully as competent to tell the truth in discussing public issues.

The best service that the governor can render to the senator, is to make a tour of the county denouncing him.

Congressman Cooper has finally climbed down off the fence and landed in the La Follette camp. Racine and Kenosha counties will elect democratic assemblymen. That ought to be consoling to the first district congressman.

The governor and his friends claim to be happy over the decision to keep the Scofield ticket in the field. There's nothing like having everybody pleased.

The democratic party has plenty of missionary work to do in its own ranks. The party will do well to hold two-thirds of its state votes this year.

Walter Wellman, of the Record-Herald, is another admirer of Governor La Follette. Not at all surprising.

Don't fail to try the voting machine before election day.

Mr. Bryan rejoices in the humiliation of Senator Spooner.

Every Hearst-Bryan democrat is a La Folletteite. Why?

PRESS COMMENT.

Evening Wisconsin: The congressmen who are talking for La Follette have been La Follette men in the past.

Chicago Record-Herald: The correspondents keep on talking about the Russians being in "full retreat." Why doesn't Kuropatkin give the white ribbon a trial?

Buffalo Evening News: The Turkish minister has saved $8,000,000 out of a salary of $5,000 annually. American methods, son, American methods.

Turtle Lake Bugle: Read The Bugle "Ad." in this week's issue and come and pay up your back subscription, as we need the money to do business with.

Oshkosh Northwestern: Governor La Follette is evidently not satisfied with formal recognition by the national committee, but wants the latter to put him on the back and congratulate him for splitting the republican party in this state into two warring factions.

Kenosha Gazette: The haste with which Congressman H. A. Cooper hopped on to the La Follette bandwagon after the supreme court had handed down its decision is laughable, even to those who are aware of what a trimmer our congressman really is. It must have been a great relief to him, however, to fall off the fence upon which he has so long been astraddle.

Berlin Journal: A new lady assistant in Lawrence university at Appleton, recently came there from Madison, is said to be instructing the girls of the school how to "root" at football and baseball games. Oh, higher education, what ridiculous things are permitted in thy name, these modern times! If there is a more absurd thing than loud and noisy rooting at games—a more disgusting thing, we don't want to know what it is.

Racine Times: Thus far neither party has invited the foul spirit of scandal to its councils or added filth to its stock of campaign ammunition in the fight for national control. And why, in all conscience, should there be any personal criminalization and recrimination in the contest? Both candidates for the presidency are clean and able gentlemen—typical Americans of the highest type. The same thing may be said of their running mates. Their speeches and letters of acceptance were cast upon a high plane of patriotism and formulated with a dignity of expression consistent with their clean and statesmanlike methods.

Milwaukee Sentinel: Gov. La Follette and his state central committee are stepping high these days. The opinion of the supreme court that, under the statutes, a committee that has stolen a state convention can by its own decision make its title good has acted like a stimulant upon the governor's edge. The republican national committee having recognized the La Follette committee, steps are now being taken to teach the national body how it must march to the music of the state organization.

Madison Journal: The Free Press prints a reminiscent half-column from the pen of Gen. Geo. E. Bryant. It is mainly abusive of Senator Spooner, but carries a sideline to references to broad mares and other collateralities of many years ago. "Who ever serves me, abandons hope," La Follette might well say. That he may wax great, gentle spirits like George Bryant must embitter their old age.

Member of the Business Men's League and one of the best known business men in St. Louis, Mo. Read what Mr. Wand has to say about Dr. Fenner's Kidney and Backache Cure:

"I know what it is to be afflicted with backache and I sympathize with fellow sufferers. After swallowing various and frequent nauseating doses of this and that prescription I decided that if Dr. Fenner's Kidney and Backache Cure could not rid me of those backaches it at least would not do me any harm and I procured a bottle.

"Now the first bottle didn't stop those wearing backaches, but it did afford me great relief. The second bottle, however, did effectually put a stop to those racking backaches. Occasionally they returned when strenuous business affairs exhausted the physical forces, but a dose or two of Dr. Fenner's Cure gave instant relief.

CORN CROP IS NOT A FAILURE

Several Exceptionally Large Fields Are Reported Throughout the County.

Corn cutting is still progressing throughout the county notwithstanding the lateness of the season. The frosts have done but little damage and that is entirely confined to the lowlands. In some places the early fodder corn is moulding in the stock because of its immature condition and the cloudy weather. Burr W. Tolles, who lives on the Clenden and Stebbins farm just south of the city, has thirty-five acres of corn that will average a hundred bushels to the acre. Six of the ears picked at random were over a foot long and weighed eight and a half pounds. The corn was planted on May 21 and is what is known as the white dent variety. Millet is being harvested for seed and hay. Sunshine would help this crop materially. Because of the lack of bumble bees this past summer, the second crop of clover is not filling out with seed. The best harvest is continuing. Dry weather is needed for this crop. Butter-makers report milk plentiful and of good quality which is a sure sign the pastures are still rich.

ST. PAUL ROAD IS TO ISSUE STOCK

Line Is To Be Extended to the West Very Rapidly—Surprising Story Told.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad company will shortly announce a further issue of $20,000,000 of common stock, to be pro rated among common stockholders at par in proportion to their present holdings. This announcement is made on the authority of people who are in a position to have and who have recently secured information directly from the highest officials of the system. There is the most excellent reason for believing that the statement is true. Recently a remarkable rise in Milwaukee quotations has been noted on the stock exchanges. The reason is now explained. The new issue is to be issued at par to present holders in proportion to their booked holdings. As Milwaukee has long been far above par insiders have been anxious to increase their holdings in order to entitle themselves to a larger share of the new issue. Milwaukee shares are now worth about $156, which means a comfortable premium to those who get a proportion of the new issue.

In this connection, and from the same authority which is responsible for the foregoing statement, it is announced that one of the purposes of the expansion of the stock issues is the raising of money for the building of a line from Chamberlain, S. D., west. This, it is now said, has been positively decided on. It is not a feature of the South Dakota capital campaign, but part in a plan long under contemplation.

The Milwaukee is one of the wealthiest corporations in the country, having a surplus of something like $25,000,000 in its treasury. With another $20,000,000 realized from a new stock issue it would be able either to take over the Northern Pacific control, as has been persistently rumored, or to build the coast line with which report has been so busy for months past. Which plan, or whether either of them, is in the minds of the managers of the system is not announced. But the statement that the Chamberlain line to be built west with as little delay as possible is made without reservation.

STILL QUESTION BOARD'S ACTION

Harvey Clarke Says Only Trouble at Blind Institute Is in the Kitchen.

It would appear that the protest that they were not receiving sufficient food at the blind institute by twenty-one students, is about to go by default. The following article is taken from the Monroe Evening Times, regarding the investigation made by Mr. Harvey Clark at the school:

"Harvey Clark is home from Janesville, where he went as a member of the state board of control to investigate the complaint of the inmates of the state school for the blind and they are being given insufficient and poor food. Mr. Clark found that the trouble was the result of some change that was made in the kitchen help and that cause for complaint has been removed."

The Milwaukee Free Press says of the matter editorially:

"Superintendent Showalter of the state school for the blind at Janesville is a stalwart. He was appointed to the position by the board of control when Superintendent Hutton was transferred to Waukesha. This fact rather discounts the hard story that the governor has 'debauched' the state institution for political purposes. Gov. La Follette never told the board of control to appoint a stalwart to any kind of a position."

"Just now there is a story being told about how the students are being starved in order to decrease the expenses of the school and make a showing for the administration that will help in the campaign. Nobody would suppose that such a story would be told and find its way into print, but it has. It has been printed, with the added explanation that the order to starve the students came direct from the governor's office! Superintendent Showalter says the students have as good fare as they need, and in sufficient quantity."

These statements may both be correct but the boys say that it does not make the table any better and bread and soup and water are not filling at lunch-time for growing boys.

Affects Employers' Agencies. New York, October 17.—If the decision of Frederick L. C. Keating, who has just entered upon his duties as commissioner of licenses, to enforce the law providing that no employment agency shall be conducted in a building in which there is a saloon, is carried into effect, more than two hundred employment agencies in this city will be compelled to close or move.

Two Men to Each Office. In Thibet nearly every public office has two incumbents. One is supposed to be a check on the other. But sometimes this dual authority does not work well—in war, for example.

When Bettors Should Quit. The London Sketch says a professional betting man should go out of business when 60 years old. After that age a man makes mistakes. Between 50 and 65 he stands to lose 75 per cent of what he accumulated before 50.

MYSTERIOUS MAN IS SEEN AT LAST

Mr. Brady, Who Has Posed as Numerous Janesville Men, Is Located in Neighboring City.

There was excitement among the former friends of the mysterious Mr. Brady one evening last week. No Mr. Brady appeared. The next day came another dispatch saying it was a hoax. However, the real Mr. Brady has been located. He may even now be lying by the heels in a nearby city lock-up waiting for officers from Ohio to take him back to the Buckeye state for trial. Brady was seen and recognized by a Janesville resident in a nearby city yesterday. He was not spoken to, but it was learned what he was doing and where, and this morning the arm of the law was invoked to reach out and grab him. ## KOUROPATKIN LOSES 50,000

Moscowite Losses Are Placed at Five Times Those of the Islanders in Seven Days of Fighting—Plan Winter Campaign.

Mukden, Oct. 17.—The Russians again have taken the aggressive. Last night they retook Shakhe, capturing six Japanese guns.

The battle, which was renewed with terrible intensity (Sunday) afternoon, continued all night, being especially heavy at midnight.

The eastern army is helping the western forces. There has been heavy artillery fire to-day. The fighting is now centered on the plain south of Mukden.

After the last evacuation of Shakhe by the Russians the Japanese failed in an attempt to reoccupy it, and now the village is held by Russian Infantry.

Russians Renew Offensive.

There is every indication that the Russian right flank is about to resume the offensive and attempt to reoccupy the positions held by them on Oct. 10 and 11. The Japanese resistance is growing weaker, and they are apparently preparing to evacuate. Towards the east and center the Japanese are more stubborn and are showing more resistance.

Some of the positions on the fighting line have already changed hands ten times.

It is impossible to say how long the contest will continue before one side or the other is worn out.

As this dispatch is being finished the sound of increasing cannonading from the center indicates that something unusual is happening. The correspondent is leaving for the front to ascertain the cause.

Fight While Retreating.

London, Oct. 17.—Kouropatkin's army, shattered but still fighting desperately, stubbornly, valorously, is slowly retreating, leaving 10,000 dead on the field of battle.

The rear guard near Shakhe is covering the retreat, even taking the aggressive at times, and repeatedly hurling back the Japanese assaults.

Tokio estimates the total Russian casualties in the seven days' fighting at 50,000. The Japanese claim their losses are less than 10,000.

At St. Petersburg it is declared that the army will not stop at Mukden nor retreating, but will retire to Harbin.

FURS...It Pays to Buy Early.

Our showing of Furs is at its best. Reliable Furs are the only kind to buy. Few people are really judges of furs, and there is probably more deception in furs than in most any other line. One must rely to a large extent on the honor of a merchant. Much honor,—good furs. Little honor,—buyer takes a risk. We are always ready to adjust any reasonable claim should any of our furs not prove up after being fairly treated.

NEARSEAL JACKETS constantly grow in popular favor. Good ones will never be common as they are worth from $45 to $75. Ours are the finest garments we have ever put out and it is easy to see that they outshine the usual run of garments called nearseal. Nearseal is a much abused word, it being tacked on to cheap electric seal garments. Women who see the Nearseal Jackets and Capes that this store shows will not forget them. We have them with rich, fancy silk linings, the same as one sees in genuine seal garments.

JACKETS OF OTTER OR ASTRACHAN we show.

SPECIAL ORDERS—We take special orders for fur jackets of Persian Lamb, Otter, Beaver, Red Seal, &c., and not only guarantee satisfaction but can save one many dollars. Quite a number of women in Janesville and other places can testify to the above statements regarding specials.

FUR SCARFS—No trouble to get suited. An assortment of all the leading shapes and skins that will entertain one for a long time. We have a special display of Furs in our large window.
